I am really happy to announce that I have been named finalist in both the Illustrative and Creative categories for the 2013 Epson SAPPA's. The South Australian Professional Photography awards were judged at the Norwood function centre at the beginning of July and took 3 and a half days. The Illustrative category was the second category judged and I scored a Gold, Silver Distinction and two silvers which put me in the top 3 folio's for the category. I also received two Silver awards in the Travel category. The combination of awards across two categories also put me in the top 3 scoring folio's in the entire competition that didn't win a category making me a finalist in the Creative category. Hilary Hann and Gee Greenslade won those categories.

At the awards presentation night at the Findon function centre, I had the opportunity to be the MC who introduced our now past President, Mark Zed who named the new AIPP SA Council. Paul Atkins is the new state president and I have been named Vice President. I will be working alongside Peter Barnes as the secretary, Louise Bagger and Helen Roberts.

The exhibition of the top scoring prints and category winners is on display at the Adelaide Wine Centre until the 26th of July 2013.

The following are the images for which I received awards for.

Illustrative Category - Finalist portfolio

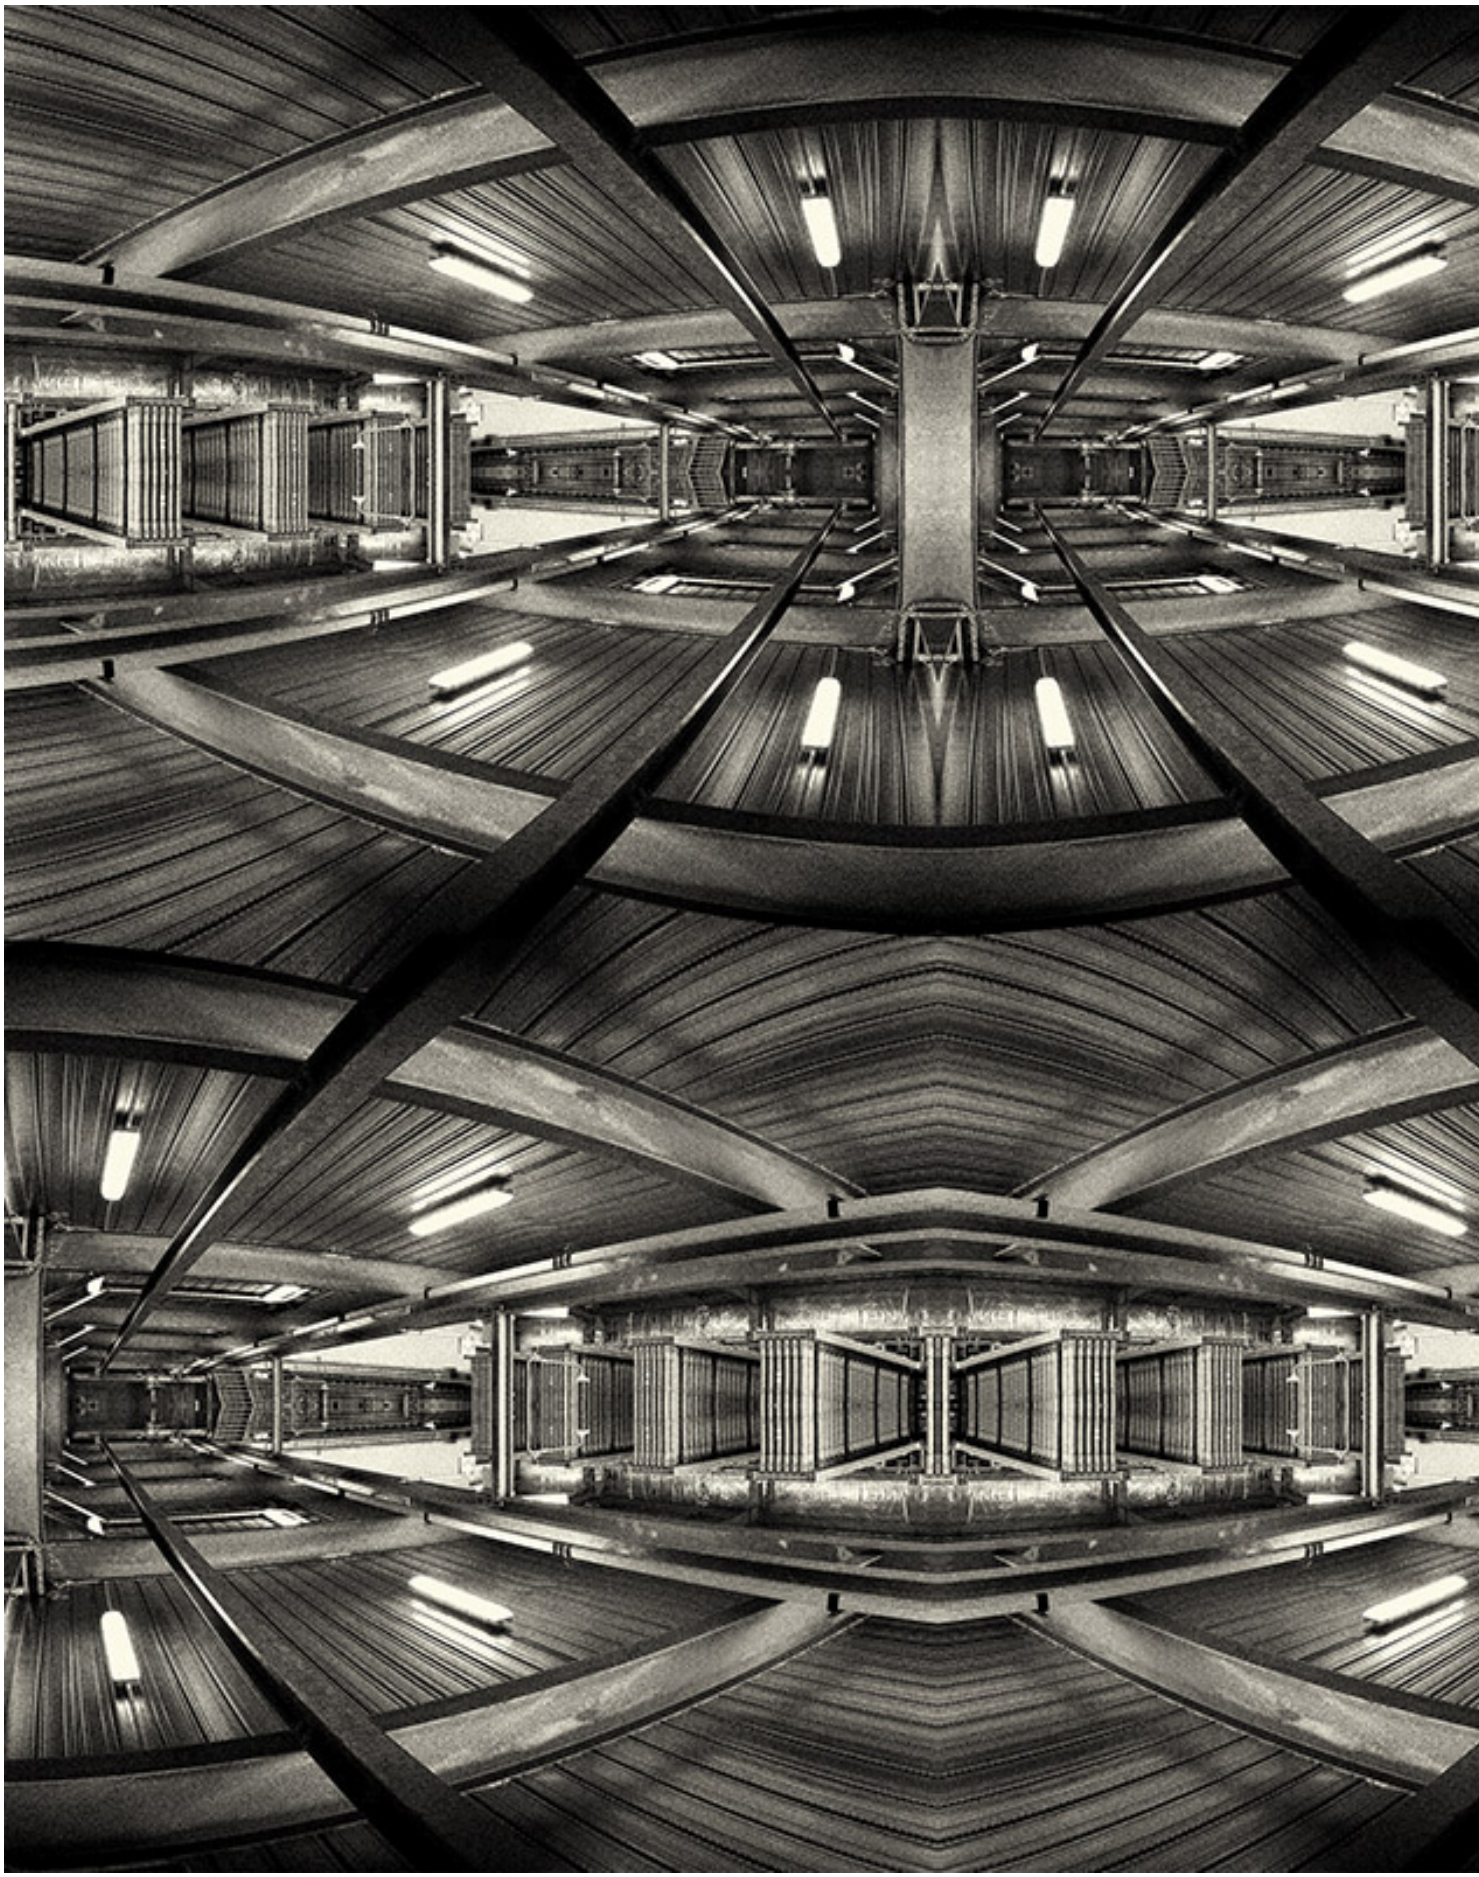

Image scored a Gold award

Image scored a Silver with Distinction award

Image scored a Silver award

Travel Category: Silver award

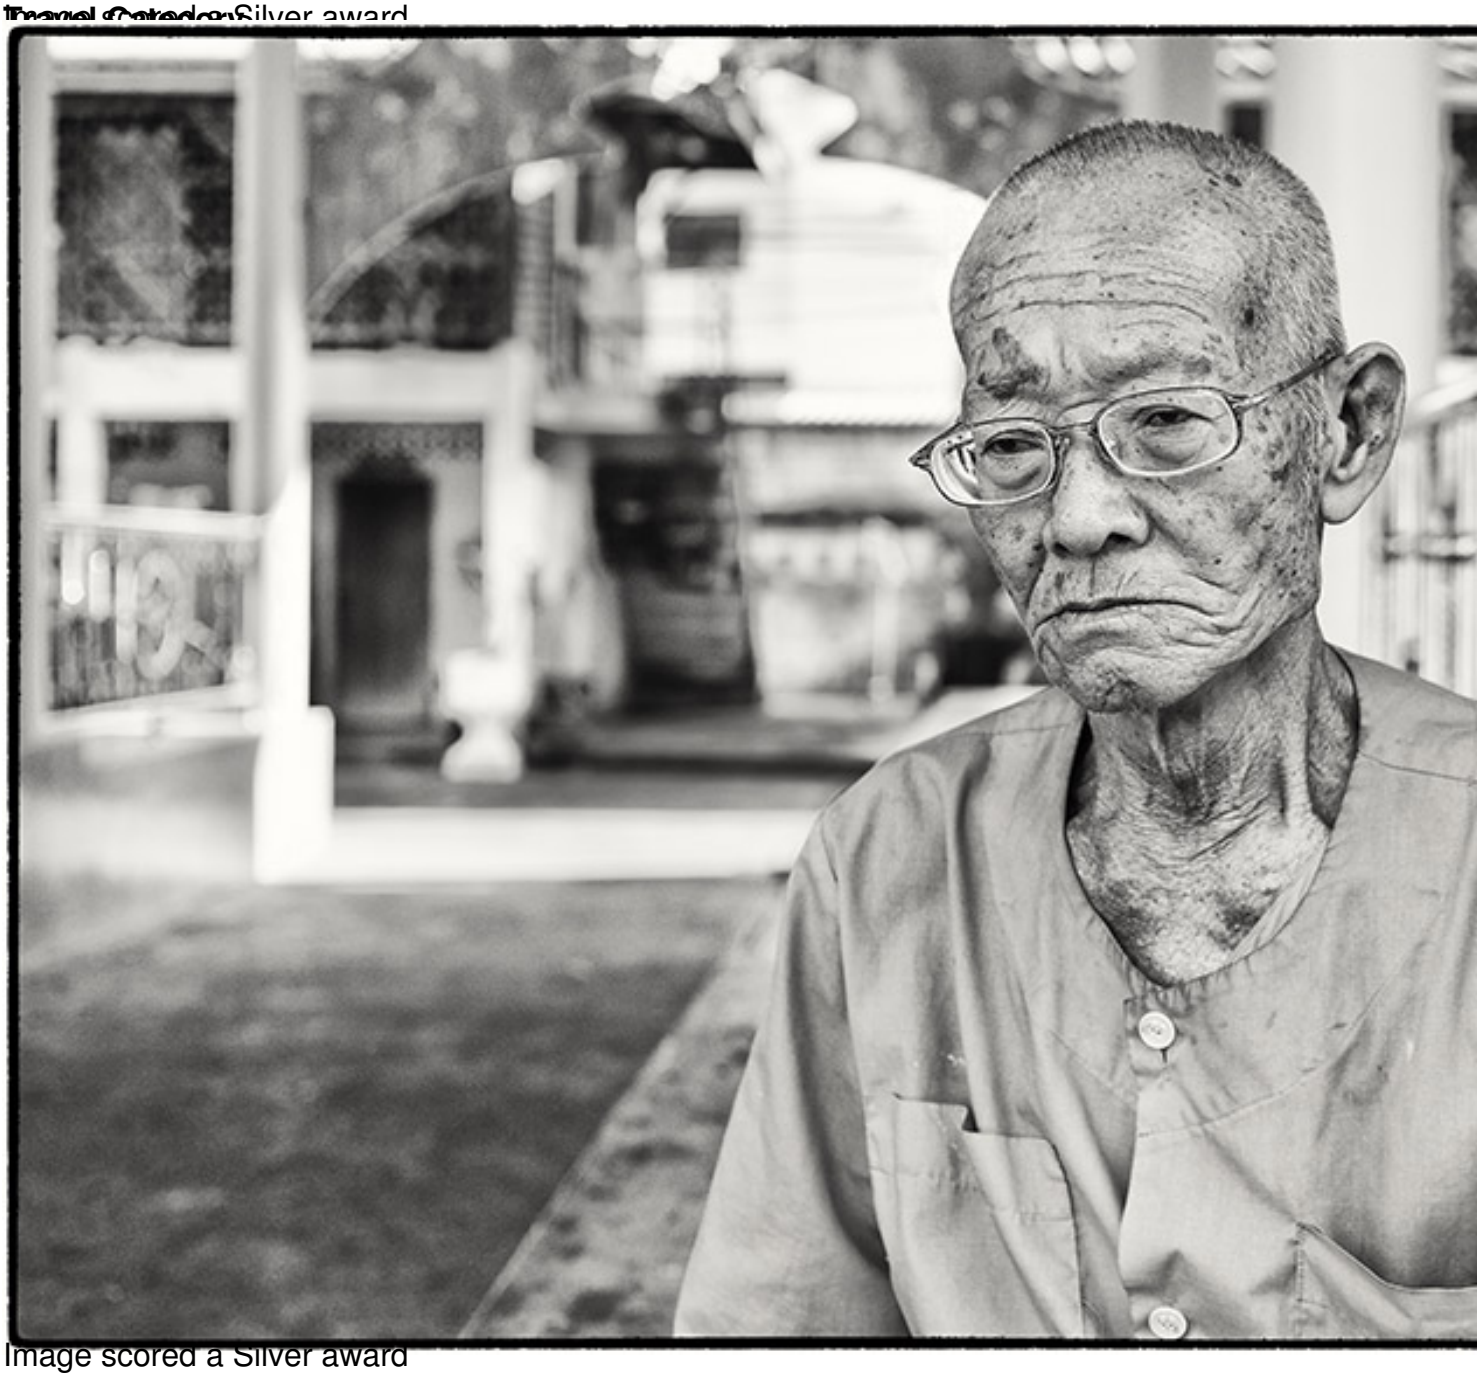

Image scored a Silver award

citi
HSBC

Thanks for reading my blog and don't forget to LIKE my Facebook page!